

amicable resumption of my visits through negotiation with the solicitors for the Respondents (Third Party Respondents). I have attached hereto the following exhibited correspondence prepared by my solicitors at my request and sent to the solicitors for the Respondents (Third Party Respondents), copies of which are marked as follows:

Exhibit "A" - March 1, 2007, correspondence from Roe & Company to Arnot Heffernan Blenner-Hassett;

Exhibit "B" - March 22, 2007, correspondence from Roe & Company to Arnot Heffernan Blenner-Hassett;

Exhibit "C" - March 30, 2007, correspondence from Roe & Company to Arnot Heffernan Blenner-Hassett;

3. I have yet to see my son despite these efforts. I am ready to resume my visits with my son and very eager to do so. I make this affidavit in support of my motion for a resumption of parental visits and for early appeal hearing date(s).

Further to the above-noted, we would like to invite your clients to kindly consider a resumption of our client's visits with Baby ██████████ on a mutual basis. Perhaps we could discuss the prospect later this week. Our client would like to resume the visits and wonders whether we can achieve this through discussion?

I look forward to hearing from you in this regard in the next few days.

Yours truly,

Further to yours of March 6th, 2007, please note that neither Mr. Hunter nor I am retained to represent Mr. [REDACTED] with respect to the website you refer to. However, I have relayed your correspondence to our client, and have been instructed to relay my client's intention to avoid defaming any individual(s), and if there is any specific material that in your view approaches this threshold, kindly bring it to our attention and we will direct the material to the directors of the site, as our client indicates he has no malicious intent. We are unable to provide any commitments to you concerning the dismantling of the site, however.

Regarding the question of restoring the visits on a voluntary basis as raised in ours of March 1st, 2007, could we kindly have a definitive reply? We trust your clients have had ample opportunity to consider this.

Yours truly,

ROE & COMPANY

Our client will be attending at Children's Haven on Monday April 2nd, 2007, at 10:00 a.m. for supervised access with his son. We have alerted Children's Haven in this regard. If your clients do not attend with the child, we have instructions to proceed by way of motion in the Court of Appeal to secure the resumption of our client's visitation. Our clients seek no less than a full reinstatement of pre-trial visits of two hourly visits each week.
